SITUATION SUMMARY

2021 Late December Storms, Statewide

Unsettled weather has impacted much of California with multiple rounds of rain, heavy mountain snow, and gusty winds. This has prompted widespread road closures, power outages, and high avalanche risks across the Sierra. Another cold front will bring additional snow and rain this weekend ahead of drier and continued cooler than normal temperatures across the state.

California State of Emergency Proclamation

On 12/30/21, Governor Gavin Newsom declared an Emergency Proclamation to support counties with recovery from winter storms.

WEATHER KEY POINTS

01/06/22 - 01/12/22

Thursday - Wednesday

- Areas of dense fog will be noted over parts of the Sacramento Valley and coastal areas through late Thursday morning, with additional periods of overnight and morning dense fog expected across the mountain valleys and coastal areas through the weekend
- The last in a series of storms will bring one more round of light to moderate precipitation to the northern half of the state Thursday night and Friday
 - Snow levels will initially be above pass level but will drop to between 4,500 and 6,000 feet across northern California on Friday, with some impacts to travel possible at times due to snow and blowing snow as well. Snowfall amounts of 2 to 5 inches are expected above 6,000 feet, with locally higher amounts up to 10 inches over the higher elevations of far northern California.
 - South to southwest winds will gust 40 to 55 mph across far northern California and the higher Sierra later tonight through Friday afternoon, with some damage to tree limbs and power lines possible. Areas of blowing snow are also expected over the higher terrain, bringing reduced visibility at times and impacting travel.
 - Rainfall amounts for most lower elevation locations will be light, averaging less than one-quarter inch. Locally heavier amounts are expected across far northwest California where 1 to 2 inches of rain are forecast. No widespread impacts from this rain are expected.
- Dry and tranquil weather will make a return for most of the state into the weekend and first half of next week, with just a few light showers possible at times closer to the coast after Monday
